THE PRINCIPAL'S CORNER

Dear Treeline Friends and Families:

The first quarter is done and on the same day this newsletter is published, student report cards are being distributed. In general, we are extremely proud of the progress our students are making. We hope that your child's report card reflects their best efforts! As always, your child's teacher and all of our staff are available to conference with you should there be a need.

I invite each of you to check out our redesigned school website at <http://tre.leeschools.net>. We have taken your advice in order to make this page more user friendly and continue to look to you for feedback.

Based on feedback given in a recent School Advisory Committee, we have a new feature on this web page. We encourage you to GO GREEN in regards to copies of school informational documents that go home. Rather than receive copies of communication such as this newsletter, you will receive an e-mail notice that new documents have been posted to our web page for your review. If you are interested in GOING GREEN, please click on and submit your application from the link provided on our web page.. Going green pertains to general information sent home to the entire school or an entire classroom. Individual reports (like report cards) will still be sent home in paper form.

The school administration was pleased to host our first "most improved" cookout luncheon at the end of the quarter. PTO purchased a grill for us to use in school celebrations. For this cookout, students enjoyed my World Famous Hot Dogs and Mrs. Nader's Fabulous Cookies. Teachers selected one student from each class to receive this honor. Students received a certificate and a Famous Dave's coupon for a free kids meal. (Thanks, Famous Dave's, for rewarding students with these coupons.) We look forward to hosting "most improved" celebrations each month to emphasize the importance of effort.

It's a great day to be at Treeline! Let me know if there is anything we can do to support your child's education.

Sincerely,
Joe Vetter, Principal

NEWS ON PARENT INVOLVEMENT

Did you know that November 16-20th is American Education Week? We here at Treeline Elementary believe in the importance of parental involvement and that is why we will be offering two workshops for parents during that week.

On Nov. 17, 2009 at 10:00 A.M. ~ Jeannette Santiago will be offering a "Homework Survival Make and Take" workshop in which families will be invited to come out to the school and hear ideas on how to make homework time more organized and enjoyable. Take the stress and hassle out of homework. Please bring a shoebox with you on this day. For this event the seating is limited ~ Please RSVP by Nov. 12th.

The second workshop will be Nov. 19th at 6:30 P.M. - "Parenting Styles". This workshop will teach you characteristics of effective parenting styles. Learn how to combine love and logic to help children find solutions to problems. It is important that you RSVP for this workshop by Nov. 16th. Look forward to seeing you!!!!
